5th Gynecology & Obstetrics Conference

Scope and Importance

A Gynecologist and Obstetrician provide care to women from the time they get pregnant and right through pregnancy till after the baby is born. OB-GYNs are essentially specialists in two different but related fields – obstetrics and gynaecology. While gynaecology deals with a broad spectrum of issues relevant to women and their reproductive health, obstetrics deals with delivering and monitoring the health of newborns. To be able to address all the health issues that affect women, many women’s health specialists choose to practice obstetrics and gynaecology simultaneously.
